Hampshire Advertiser November 26 1804

HOME NEWS.

Winchester,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24.

On Thursday the Dean of Salisbury was pleased to institute the Rev. Wm. Jones, of Highworth, in Witthire, to the Vicarage of Lyme Regis, Dorfetshire, on the presentation of the Bishop of Winchester.

This morning a melancholy accident happened about half past five o'clock: as the Poole mail coach was returning from London, coming down the new road, near the rifing fun public-houle, near this city, owing to the great negligence of the driver, in not checking the impetuofity of the horfes, then in full speed, in turning the corner of the road the coach unfortunately overturned, by which accident Mr. Corbin, Surgeon, of Southampton, an outfide paffenger, was fo dreadfully bruifed, that his life is in imminent danger, having one leg, one thigh, and one arm broken, with a dreadful contusion over his eye, that if he should recover not the least hopes are entertained of his fight. The driver has one of his legs broken, and otherwise very much bruifed. The infide paffengers received fome fevere contusions, but no bones broken. The guard was also much cut and bruised in the head. The horses very much hurt. There is not the least doubt but if the Coachman had taken the friendly advice of Mr. Corbin and the guard, who each of them re-peatedly admonished the driver of the imminent danger he was then in of descending the hill with fuch rapidity, this unfortunate accident might have been prevented, ... Let this serve as a caution to others.

Hampshire Telegraph September 25 1861

Agent-Mr. T. PROUTEN.

The Postmaster-General has approved of Mr. Clark, of Alton, as the contractor for the conveyance of the mails between Winchester and Alton.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.—On Thursday, a draft of 56 rank and file of the 1st battalion Rifle Brigade left this garrison per South-Western Railway to join the head-quarters new stationed at Dublin.

POSTAL ACCOMMODATION.— The Postmaster-General has been pleased to direct that a pillar letter has should be created at the village of Week, near this city. This is a great boon to the residents, as hitherto, they have been obliged to wait and give their letters to the postman as he passed through the village. The time of clearing the box will be 8.30 p.m. on week days, and 12.15 on Sundays.

Hampshire Telegraph January 25 1830

The fall of snow in this neighbourhood, last Wednesday, was heavier than has been known for many years. In many places, the roads were quite impassable, the snow having drifted several feet deep, level with the tops of the hedges. The Oxford and Cheltenham coaches have not arrived here since, and the London mail did not pass through from Southampton the following night till nearly twelve o'clock Several travellers, who started in various directions on Thursday morning, were obliged to return till the roads could be cleared; and one waggon sank, with the horses, to such a depth, near Whiteflood, as to be obliged to be dug out. Some flocks of sheep have been